Sewanee
A towered city set within a wood,
Far from the world, upon the mountain crest,
There storms of life burst not,
Nor cares intrude
There learning dwells, and peace is wisdom's guest.

It is the aim... of the University of the South to develop a harmonious and symmetrical character to fit and prepare men for every avocation in the life that now is ... and to teach all those things which a Christian ought to know and believe in his soul's health.

Homecoming Festivities

Present day Sewanee, population 1500, is, depending on your point of view, either a sleepy little Southern town with a British accent or an English village with a drawl.

It is so beautiful that people who have once been there always, one way or another, come back. For such as can detect apple green in an evening sky, it is Arcadia.

There has been much talk, too much talk. . . Many a would be friend has been turned aside by such remarks as: "You ought to have seen it a few years ago", or "Sewanee is not what it was since new people have been allowed to come in. No one works now; the students do nothing but drive, dance, and flirt." - The Book-Worm, in "Sewanee", September 1889

Breslin Tower and Convocation Hall

There is romance here still; a certain kind can be flushed in couples almost anywhere in the green woods, and the love which everyone bears to the place is surely as romantic as ever it was.

Sewanee has had the courage, certainly more than the other divisions of the state and more than any other college I know of, to insist upon retaining its own traditions, its own individuality, its own peculiarities. It has tried, as any institution which is to endure must, to make the world relevant to its own principles and ideals rather than to accept the values of the world.

Founder's Day speech, 1972

New Gownsmen

It is a pleasant and refreshing sight to see a Gownsman in the spring of the year, with a pair of new lavender pants, spotless vest, and cut-away coat...

But, so long as he is a gownsman, he is treated as being intellectually adult. For instance, he is not required to attend lectures. It is for him to decide, at his peril, whether he will attend them or not, pending the day of judgement when he will be examined.

I shall pass through this world but once.
If, therefore, there be any kindness I can show, or any good thing I can do, let me do it now;
Let me not defer it or neglect it, for I shall not pass this way again.

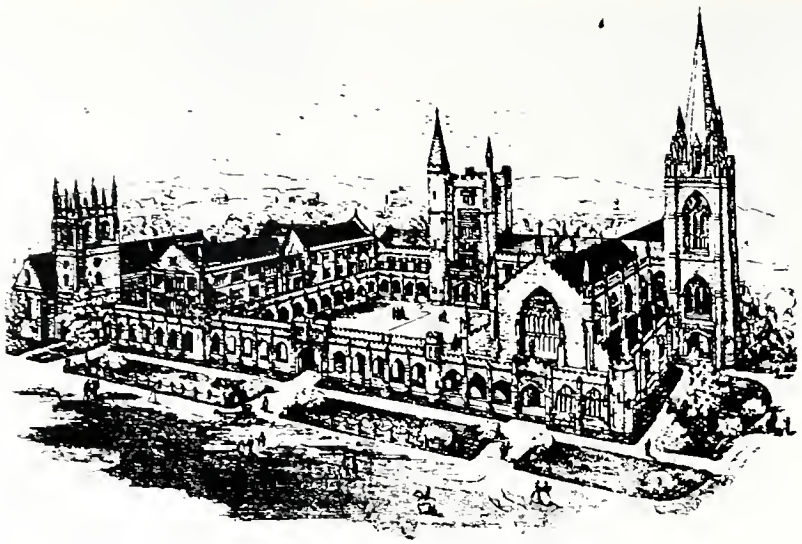
A Brief History of the University of the South



PROPOSED PLAN UNIVERSITY OF THE SOUTH

The University of the South was founded in 1857 by leaders of the Episcopal Church who were inspired by the need for a Southern University of quality. With its assets destroyed in the Civil War, the University was rebuilt and has maintained a single-minded dedication to academic excellence and Christian Community.

It has been said a map is history on one page. To explain adequately the history of Sewanee's campus would require a volume — even to explain the central campus depicted here. In this block of buildings are ancient and modern features. They tell a story of hope, perseverance, despair and victory.

Guerry Hall (1961): A large portion of this building contains Guerry Auditorium (seating capacity 1011), although classrooms extend along two wings. This is the principal building of the Sewanee Summer Music Center. In the connecting wing adjacent to Convocation Hall is the University art gallery.

Guerry Garth This courtyard between Convocation and Walsh Halls is enclosed on the front side by cloisters, which also extend along two sides of Walsh. The Garth is used for concerts, plays, meetings, and services.

Convocation Hall (1886): This beautiful stone building, a significant example of Victorian-Gothic architecture, was designed as a meeting hall (west end) and gymnasium (east end) located in divided sections. It was a library from 1901 to 1965. Today it is again a meeting hall and site for receptions and concerts. The stained-glass windows and ornate Victorian woodwork are testaments to the age. On the walls are numerous plaques and portraits honoring important University and church leaders.

Breslin Tower (1886): Built along with Convocation Hall, Breslin symbolizes the commitment of early University leaders, despite those times of hardship and poverty, to the creation of a grand university on the scale of Oxford and Cambridge. The tower, modeled after Magdalen Tower at Oxford, is 100 feet high. In it are the Douglas Chimes, the result of a gift in 1900, and a Seth Thomas clock, installed in 1935.

Walsh Hall (1890): Classrooms and offices of several humanities departments are located on the second and third floors. The appearance of a 19th century classroom is preserved in the central room of the middle floor. There on opposite ends of the desk are letters "pi" and "omega," symbols of a debating society named after two University founders, Bishop Leonidas Polk and Bishop James Otey. On the main floor are administrative offices, including the office of the vice-chancellor.

Cleveland Memorial Hall (1965): Besides connecting Carnegie, Guerry, and Walsh Halls, Cleveland contains the offices of financial aid and career planning, admissions, the registrar, and word processing and printing.

Carnegie Hall (1913): A gift of Andrew Carnegie, this stone building housed science departments until the completion of Woods Laboratories. It is now occupied by administrative and faculty offices and the fine arts department. Above the entrance is inscribed the Latin word "scientia," meaning "knowledge." The dome and a telescope were added in the 1940s.

Thompson Hall (1883): Known to thousands of alumni as Thompson Union, this restored building originally stood three stories high and housed the medical school. A fire virtually destroyed the building in 1950. Today Thompson contains the university relations offices and the Union Theatre.

University Avenue

The name "Sewanee," used informally for the University, was given to this mountain plateau by the Indians. The Domain of the University encompasses about 10,000 acres, upon which there are many trails, forests, lakes, and mountain overlooks.

. Geography .

The University of the South

Sewanee, Tennessee

THE UNIVERSITY is under the joint control of eighteen dioceses of the Protestant Episcopal Church. Opened in 1868. Located at Sewanee, Tennessee, on the Cumberland Mountains, two thousand feet above the level of the sea, and about one thousand feet above the surrounding valleys. The scenery is beautiful, the climate is salubrious, and the inhabitants are especially exempt from malarial and pulmonary complaints. Sewanee has a national reputation as a health resort. The atmosphere, even in the hot season, is delightful and well adapted to the requirements of a Summer School. The following departments of the University are well equipped and fully organized with a thoroughly efficient corps of professors:

Academic, Theological, Medical, Law, Pharmaceutical, Engineering

¶ While Sewanee's claim to stand for training in classical and literary culture is justified by the large number of alumni who have attained to prominence in journalism and literature, many are successful in business, and several are engaged in the practice of architecture. ¶ Through the generosity of a beneficiary, an offer has been made for the building of a $60,000 Science Hall, which, when completed and properly equipped, will fill a long-felt need in the broader growth of the University. ¶ The SEWANEE GRAMMER SCHOOL prepares boys for this and other Universities and for business. ¶ Trinity Term, 1909, begins July 5th; Advent Term, 1909, begins September 19th; Lent Term, 1910, begins March 19th. Vacation from the middle of December to the middle of March, instead of during the Summer months. ¶ For catalogue and other information address

St. Luke's Chapel (1904): Unusual for its large choir section and tiny nave in the English academic tradition, this small chapel is also noteworthy for its woodwork and display of sandstone craftsmanship—fine window mullions and powerful walls. The Meneely bell in its tower hung in the original St. Augustine's Chapel in 1870 and has since hung in All Saints' Chapel and Breslin Tower.

The Bishop's Common (1794): A student union, the Common, houses the University post office, and Tiger Bay Pub and snack bar on the lower floor; St. Luke's Bookstore, a dining room, lounge, and game rooms on the main floor; and a variety of student offices on the second floor.

Phi Delta Theta Fraternity House The design of this stone house was inspired by Founders' Tower at Oxford. Sewanee's fraternities have a long and colorful history. The ATO house (across University Avenue), built in 1870 as the first University library, was the first fraternity house in the South and is the oldest ATO house in the nation. Three other fraternities at Sewanee—Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Kappa Sigma, and Pi Kappa Alpha—were also the first chapters of their national organizations to own their own houses.

duPont Library (1965): This three story building contains the 374,000-volume University collection, which was begun with books given by Oxford and Cambridge in 1868. A government documents center is also located in duPont. A rare-books collection contains about 12,000 volumes, including incunabula and many first edition works acquired in part through the influence of the Sewanee Review and literary personalities at Sewanee. The woodwork is of special interest in the Tolman Room just above the front door.

Woods Laboratories (1968): Modern laboratories, classrooms, and offices occupy the outer wings of this science and math building. On the interior are a courtyard and Blackman Auditorium.

St. Augustine's Chapel (in sacristy wing): The furnishings date from the 1800's, and on the seats can be seen names, initials, etc., carved in those years. Mathematics was taught in St. Augustine's by Confederate General Edmund Kirby-Smith. Of interest is the rose window, representing the apostles, and the side windows, representing the descent of the church's authority from England to Scotland to America to Sewanee.

St. Augustine's Stone This is the site of the original University Chapel, a frame building built in 1868 and enlarged several times. The chapel also served as classroom space. It was taken down in 1910, and the original furnishings are located in the new St. Augustine's Chapel.

Shapard Tower (1957): The tower is 143 feet high and contains the 56-bell Leanidas Polk Memorial Carillon, one of the largest in the world. Carillon concerts are held most Sunday afternoons.

. Origins .

"Concerned by the failure of the Episcopal Church to establish within the various southern states a single successful university, 10 Episcopal dioceses agreed in 1856 to work together to create an institution which would serve the entire area. Responding to their bishops' invitation, clergy and lay delegates from North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas, and Tennessee met at Lookout Mountain near Chattanooga, Tennessee, on July 4, 1857, and organized the first Board of Trustees.

This first meeting of the Trustees was followed by a second later that year in Montgomery, Alabama, at which the name and site of the University were chosen. At a third meeting in 1858, at Beersheba Springs, a resort near Sewanee, the Trustees received the charter for the University from the State of Tennessee.

The culmination of these early efforts was the ceremonial laying of the cornerstone for the first building, which took place on October 10, 1860. The Bishop of Georgia, Stephen Elliott, placed a Bible and Prayer Book within the stone; the Bishop of Louisiana, Leonidas Polk, concluded the laying of the stone for 'an institution established for the cultivation of true religion, learning, and virtue, that thereby God may be glorified and the happiness of men may be advanced.' " (A piece of the original corner-stone is preserved in the wall of All Saints' Chapel, while a replica of the cornerstone lies on a wooded path across the street from Benedict.)

"The dreams of the founders were swept away during the Civil War. With the south lying desolate after the war, Charles Todd Quintard, Bishop of Tennessee, and George R. Fairbanks returned to the site of the campus in 1866. In a simple ceremony they and a few workmen erected a cross fashioned from nearby saplings, and formally re-established the University.

Many obstacles remained to be overcome, however, before the University could open its doors to students. The substantial amount of money which had been pledged to create the University before the war had been lost. Further, the South, from which support would logically come, was impoverished. Looking to England for support, Bishop Quintard made three fund-raising tours, returning to the United States after the first with sufficient funds to make the opening of the University possible.

The first Convocation of The University of the South was held on September 18, 1868, with nine students and four teachers present. The physical plant consisted of St. Augustine's Chapel, Otey Hall, and Cobbs Hall, each a simple frame building.

Although years of adversity, struggle, and sometimes poverty lay ahead, the University grew..."

-excerpted from the Catalog of the College of Arts and Sciences 1993

OCTOBER 10, 1860, is a memorable date in the history of Sewanee. On that day, the corner-stone of the first building was laid in what is now known as 'Louisiana Circle.' Those who were present on that occasion describe the original corner-stone as being a very large block of reddish-brown, variegated Tennessee marble, which had been quarried somewhere near Winchester in Franklin County. The stone was so large that tradition says it took eight yoke of oxen to haul it up the mountain, and a skilled workman spent six weeks in shaping and polishing it after it was placed upon the ground.

The day appointed for the laying of the corner-stone dawned bright and clear, as beautiful an October day as could be desired. An eye-witness thus describes the scene: "Almost like magic, the mountain plateau of Sewanee teemed with life: the shriek of arriving railway trains, the rumbling of omnibuses and carriages brought up for the occasion, the throng of people from the surrounding country on foot, on horseback, in wagons, carts, and every conceivable vehicle, all gathered to a common centre, evinced the interest which the occasion created. A band of music from Nashville poured forth its martial strains, and booths and peddler wagons indicated a gala day for the people."

. Campus and Buildings .

The buildings of the College of Arts and Sciences and the School of Theology are constructed of sandstone from the Domain. They are frequently gifts of benefactors whose names they bear.

St. Luke's Hall (1878) once housed the School of Theology, which moved to Hamilton Hall, the previous residence of the Sewanee Military Academy. It now houses the Sewanee Review, classrooms, Grosvenor Auditorium and residence rooms for Senior males.

Thompson Hall (1883) once housed the medical school. After a fire in 1950, reconstruction provided the student union and SPO until 1974, when the Bishop's Common was erected. It now houses University Relations and Alumni offices, and the Sewanee Union Theater.

Convocation Hall (1886) erected as the place for Senate and Board of Trustees meetings, and convocations, it served as the Library from 1901 to 1965.

Walsh-Ellett Hall (1890) has served faithfully as the location for classrooms and faculty and administrative offices.

Fulford Hall (1890), once the residence of seven previous Vice Chancellors, became the location for Admissions, Financial Aid, and Public Relations.

St. Luke's Chapel (1904) serves the choir and orchestra for performances, as well as special services and compline services during the year.

All Saints' Chapel (1905) replaces the early wooden structure near the present building. Incomplete for 50 years, 1957 saw the completion of the present Gothic structure.

Carnegie Hall (1913) was once known as Science Hall. It now houses the Treasurer's office, classrooms, offices, studios, and the observatory.

Guerry Hall (1961) contains classrooms, offices, an auditorium, stage, offices, and an art gallery for visiting exhibitions and the University's permanent collection.

Snowden Forestry Building (1962) contains classrooms, laboratories, offices, and a greenhouse. The paneling of the rooms and large number of samples contribute to the wood technology collection.

The Jessie Ball duPont Library (1965) is named for the most munificent benefactor of the University. It houses the principal library holdings and archives and includes study carrels, screening rooms, a listening complex, and a collection of recordings.

Cleveland Memorial (1965) connects Walsh-Ellett and Carnegie. It also houses the Vice-President for Business and Community Relations, the Registrar, Career Services, and Minority Affairs.

Wiggins Hall (1965) contains individual and group practice rooms and offices for the Music Department.

J. Albert Woods Laboratories (1968) honors one of the most devoted alumni. The building contains classrooms, offices, laboratories, Blackman Auditorium and the Waring Web Greenhouse.

The Bishop's Common (1974) contains the SPO, dining room, Tiger Bay Pub, lounges, WUTS radio station, student publications offices, meeting rooms and game rooms.

Emerald -Hodgson Hospital (1976) replaces the old hospital, now Hodgson Hall.

Clement Chen Hall (1991) replaces Fulford Hall as the residence of the Vice Chancellor.

The Robert Dobbs Fowler Center (1994) includes the Frank A. Juhan Gymnasium (1956-57). It provides weightrooms, racquetball courts, an indoor track, swimming pool, basketball courts, tennis courts and offices.

Residence halls: Hodgson Hall (1877), Emery Hall (1916), Hoffman Hall (1925), Elliott Hall (1922), Cannon Hall (1925), Johnson Hall (1926), Tuckaway Inn (1930), Phillips Hall (1951), Gailor Hall (1952), Gorgas Hall (1952), Hunter Hall (1953), Sessums Cleveland Hall (1955), Benedict Hall (1963), McCrady Hall (1964), Courts Hall (1965), Trezevant Hall (1969).

. Future Directions .

The University is going through a period of building and renovation. More than half of the existing buildings were constructed in the late 1950's and early 1960's. Thus, Sewanee is undergoing a $50 million building and renovation boom to accomodate the expanding numbers and needs of students and faculty.

During the past five years, approximately $25m in major construction and renovation projects have been accomplished. Quintard Hall renovation, completed 1990, was one of the first major renovations. Beyond this first-class dormitory, the campus received new walks, landscaping, exterior lights, handicapped accessibility, a refurbishing of Gorgas, St. Luke's, Clement Chen Hall, and new air conditioning for Cravens. Removing parking lots from interior campus sites to more remote sites is also a theme to come.

Currently underway is a $3m renovation of the old Emerald-Hodgson Hospital which will house 62 students beginning in August 1995. Hodgson Hall will be without question one of the finest dormitories in the United States.

Like the Quintard project, the land surrounding the newly renovated Hodgson dormitory will be turned into a green area, thus resulting in the re-routing of Curlicue Road.

Next summer Phillips will be renovated and expanded internally to house 40 students.

Plans for the summer of 1995 call for a refurbishing of Cleveland Hall. Included in this refurbishment will be lighting, updating the alarm system, painting, and new carpet.

The next five years will see another $25m spent on construction and renovation. During the summer of 1996 Benedict Hall will receive a comprehensive refurbishment including a new heating and air conditioning system.

Also planned is a new theatre, to begin construction in the fall of 1996. The existing Academy gym will be renovated and expanded, similar to the Fowler Center renovation, resulting in a flexible 200-seat theatre, offices, studios, rehearsal and shop space, dance studio, dressing rooms, and storage.

Another facility, located near Hamilton Hall, will be a new chapel for the School of Theology. The architect, Fay Jones, is a world renowned designer. The design process is expected to begin this summer.

Depending on the success of the campaign, two major facilities will be added to the core of campus. The first is a new dining hall to be located on top of St. Augustine's Avenue parallel to All Saints' Chapel. This new facility will provide for the first time in many years a central dining hall for all students, faculty, and staff.

The second facility is a new academic building for Geology, Forestry, Academic Computing, and Computer Sciences. The 40,000 square foot facility will be the University's second largest academic building, and it will be located on the hill just southeast of Woods Lab.

In the end, the goal of the University is to shape the campus in such a way that the setting that will be created will reinforce the principles, history, tradition, and values of Sewanee, and at the same time adequately support the existing academic and student life programs.

Gailor's Apostrophe

O SEWANEE! How beautiful art Thou in Thy High Places! A Beacon upon the top of a Mountain, and an Ensign on an Hill! Sacred art Thou to us among the habitations of men, because of the noble spirits who have peopled Thy solitudes, and who have taught, by the sanctity of their lives and the richness of their learning, the excellency of the manhood that lives in touch with God! Sweet and gracious are the memories that haunt and hallow for us Thy waving forests and mountain views, and every acre of Thy wide domain! For simple tastes, and gentle manners, and unselfish service, during these five and forty years—with rare, proud courage, Thou hast made and lived Thy claim! O Sewanee! The child of so many labours; of so many hopes; of so many sacrifices; of so great faith! who can doubt for a moment that God—the God of the spirits of the flesh—hath chosen Thee for an Instrument and Interpreter of His Will, and that, in serving Thee, we are proving our fellowship with God! (Rt. Rev. Thomas F. Gailor, Bishop of Tennessee and Chancellor of the University of the South.)

Sewanee Hymn

(Air-"Austrian National Anthem" by Haydn)

God of Light, Whose face beholding,
Israel's Leader learned Thy Will,-
Fire and Storm the Rock enfolding,
When the Voice was calm and still,-
Give Thy children on the Mountain
Grace and power Thy Truth to know;
Open here a living fountain,
Whence thy praise shall ever flow.

On the world now grows the Vision,-
Love of Country--Freedom's call;
Gauge of Battle,--Life's decision,-
Faith will see the Christ through all.
Clear, surer, rings the story,-
"Christ our Brother-God Most High!
Through earth's vapors sweeps the glory,- Wrong, injustice, sin, must die."

For the warfare train us, Father,- God of battles, God of might,-
That no mists of Hell may gather,
Darken nor obscure the right.
Gird our souls with Thy Compassion,
Purge our minds with fire divine;
Light of Light, the Truth Incarnate,
Make our lives and thoughts like Thine.

THE UNIVERSITY PRAYER

Almighty God, the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, we, Thy servants, implore Thy blessing upon this University. Give the Spirit of Wisdom to all those to whom Thou hast given the authority of teaching and of government. Let the students grow in grace day by day; enlighten their minds, purify their hearts, and sanctify their wills. Bless all who have contributed to this institution; and raise up to the University, we humbly pray Thee, a never-failing succession of benefactors; through our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ. Amen.

THE UNIVERSITY OF THE SOUTH

What Sewanee Stands For

The Education of the Whole Man

His body, in a physical environment and training almost ideal.

His mind, through courses in a scientifically correct curriculum, and through contact with a faculty strong in scholarship and personality.

His character, through the constant influence of Christianity as expounded and exemplified in the life of the University community.

The Making of the Citizen.

In theory, through the influence of that ideal of patriotism which we call the Sewanee Spirit.

In practice, through dynamic living as a citizen in a community of which the student body constitutes the citizenship.

Individuality, Originality, Initiative

Taught to think independently, plan independently, but to act as a community member.

The Historic Flag at Sewanee

"Once suspended from the south clerestory walls of All Saints' (University) Chapel was a silk flag, so faded and tattered that it was not at once recognized by visitors as the national banner, and prompting frequent inquiries as to what it is and why it should be there. It is a flag with a history, and is one of the University's most treasured relics.

The staff was cut for it near the grave of Washington at Mount Vernon, by President Millard Fillmore, whose term extended from 1850 to 1853, and this flag with its staff was presented by General Winfield Scott to Mr. Lucius C. Duncan, of New Orleans. General Scott, who was in the diplomatic or consular service, took the flag on a journey to the Levant. On this trip the flag was unfurled on some of the historic battlefields of England, upon the Baltic Sea, 'upon all the memorable battlefields of Greece, the Pyramids and ruined temples of Egypt, on lonely Sinai and Horeb and Hor, upon the banks of Jordan and in Jerusalem.'

It came into posession of Dr. Herman C. Duncan who was present with it at the Fourth of July celebration on Lookout Mountain in 1857, when the University of the South was organized. Both the flag and staff were formally presented to the University in 1885 by Dr. Duncan."

The flag has been removed for safe keeping, but the staff is preserved in a glass case on the wall in the south clerestory.

The University Seal

The University Seal contains the cross of Christ in the center, with the chain of links representing the ten original owning dioceses. It also contains the Greek letters of Christ's name, and the Alpha and Omega on the sides of the cross. The University's motto from the 133rd Psalm, "ECCE QUAM BONUM," above clasped hands, used from the founding of the University, lies below the cross. The dove of the Holy Spirit is above the cross. The name and the chartering date of the University, 1858, encircle the cross and internal symbols. The shape of the seal is that of two congruent circles overlapped, signifying the union of God and humanity in Jesus Christ.

Tradition holds that students, upon receiving their diplomas are to walk across the seal as they are leaving the Chapel, and not before.

FACULTY

Sustaining the Founders' Vision

Dr. Samuel R. Williamson, the 11th Vice-Chancellor, was installed in October 1988 as successor to Robert Ayers. While Dr. Williamson is responsible for the "careful planning for additional facilities as well as a modest expansion of the faculty and student body," his most inspirational movement has been towards the Campaign for Sewanee: Sustaining the Founders' Vision. The attempts to sustain this vision include a $91.5 million fund-raising effort that will strengthen the endowment, create new campus facilities, and renovate those buildings which are so familliar.

After nearly 140 years, the 10 Episcopal dioceses from the southern states can rest. They can rest in the assurance that their dream and vision has become reality. There is now a place in the South which is responsible for "the cultivation of true religion, learning, and virtue." There is now a place which challenges the mind, body, and soul alike. There is now a place which offers, as any student or alumni knows, everything that could be asked for, and that place is the University of the South.

The University Purpose

"The purpose of the College of Arts and Sciences of the University of the South is to develop the whole person through a liberal arts education of high quality. Sewanee is committed to the college of liberal arts as a distinct unit in the educational system of our country. The College's aims include training in personal initiative, in social consciousness, in aesthetic perception, in intellectual curiosity and integrity, and in methods of scientific inquiry. It endeavors to achieve these objectives with excellence in the context of a small college with a faculty of character and distinction maintaining close personal contact with a carefully selected group of students."

THE SACRISTANS' GUILD

The All Saints' Chapel Sacristans' Guild was established to assist the clergy in their preparation for all services of worship held in All Saints' Chapel. Nominated by out-going seniors each Spring, newly elected Sacristan Candidates enter a semester long period of training and are usually inducted into the Guild the following Fall. The role of Sacristan is best observed on Sundays during the school year, at the famous Festival Service of Lessons and Carols each Advent, and during Holy Week in the Spring.

YOUNGLIFE

YoungLife is a nationwide Ecumenical ministry dedicated to meeting high school students "on their own turf" and building strong relationships through which the Gospel may be communicated. The Sewanee chapter is made up of college students with support from families in the Seminary and University Community. The chapter also has strong contacts with the Chattanooga Area Chapter and the National organization.

Leaders: Michael Jarrett, Brooke Vaughn, Paul Randall, Julian Bibb, Rachel Carlson, Presh Killebrew, Mallory Dimmitt, Susan Carrison, Anne Spear, Missy Bennett, Tricia Mashburn, Kimberly Fellman, Louie Caputo, Scott Womack, Liz Ellington, Mica O'Brian, Erin Hanni, Josh Reams, Bert Emerson.

THE CANTERBURY GROUP

The Canterbury Group recognizes the validity and integrity of existing Christian groups at Sewanee and its goal is to seek increased awareness of the Anglican understanding of the Christian faith. Weekly meetings range from games, movies, and discussions to ice skating. Annual traditions include a Eucharist and cookout at the cross and Advent tree decorating party.

The Carrilloneurs provide music every Sunday following the University service, special recitals, as well as providing Sunday afternoon concerts that can be heard throughout central campus.

Members: (L to R): Jessica Fletchall, L. H. Whipple (Instructor), Greg Bautista, Megan Montgomery, Nancy Beth Spencer.

COMMUNITY BUILDING COMMUNITY

Community Building Community is an organization of undergraduate students, community members, Seminarians, and University faculty who volunteer their time and skills with unmeasured energy into renovation and repair of low income homes in the Sewanee community. All of the services rendered are performed without charge.

ALL SAINTS' CHAPEL OUTREACH MINISTRIES

All Saints' Chapel Outreach Ministries is a program designed to involve students in the challenging effort of helping and serving others, and then reflecting on those experiences.

Components of this Outreach program include Appalachia Housing Projects where students aid in the building and refurbishing of homes in this region. Break trips take the participants to serve in locations such as Kingston, Jamaica, Navajoland, New Mexico, San Pedro Sula, Honduras and the inner city of New Orleans, Louisiana.

Each of us strive to leave something behind in these places, while we leave forever changed by that which we have learned.

BACCHUS

(left) The Sewanee Bacchus (Boost Alcohol Consciousness Concerning the Health of University Students) chapter is a local affiliate of a 600 chapter national organization by the same name. Both grew out of concern by students, faculty, and staff about moderate use of alcohol on campus. The purpose of BACCHUS is to encourage responsible drinking behavior within the campus community, to work to alleviate problems of alcohol abuse, and to educate and inform the students, faculty, and staff on alcohol issues, not deter students from drinking. BACCHUS is not a temperance or treatment organization rather, it is an educational group seeking to teach moderation, responsibility, and personal freedom of choice in matters involving alcohol. Locally, BACCHUS provides alternative transportation during the week-ends for party goers- Affectionately known as the BACCHUS mobile.

THE ORDER OF THE SILVER BONE

There were many more dogs who had their day, well-meriting the love of their owners, and the respectful admiration of their friends, but, alas we cannot list them all. Lineage had nothing to do with their reknown: t'was ever personality that counted in Sewanee. Who that knew them can forget, ever, that international coretage? - 1909

Alas, the 1995 leash law has estranged us from these furry friends...

When boneheads to Sewanee come
The Phi's begin to make things hum
With bloodshot eyes
They shoot their lies
Calling to aid the Demon Rum.

sewanee songs and yells

"SEWANEE TIGER"

When those Sewanee Tigers fall in line,
We're going to win this game another time!
For SE-WA-NEE I yell, I yell!
And for the University I yell like hell!
We will FIGHT! FIGHT! FIGHT! for every yard!
We'll circle ends and hit that line right hard;
We're gonna roll old Vandy on the sod! on the sod!
SE-WA-NEE!

-excerpted from the Cap and Gown 1937

"Don't send my boy to Tennessee."
The dying mother said.
"Don't send my boy to Georgia Tech,
I'd rather see him dead.
But send him to Sewanee
It's better than Cornell;
And rather than to Vanderbilt
I'd send my boy to hell."

-excerpted from the Cap and Gown 1937

"SEWANEE TIGERS"

Sewanee Tigers! Sewanee Tigers!
The pride of every student here!
Come on you old grads,
Let's join the young lads,
Sewanee Tigers now we cheer-RAH! RAH!
Now's the time boys to make a big noise
No matter what the people say,
For there is none to fear-
The gang's all here.
Hail to old Sewanee! Hail!

-excerpted from the Cap and Gown 1937

Tigers, Tigers - leave 'em in the lurch
Down with the heathens
Up with the Church
YEA SEWANEE'S RIGHT!

CLOSING

It is Spring
On our Mountain

All Winter the roads
Have been clogged
With mud and we have
Had to stay in by the fire.

Now I shall go out
And look for the
Thrush that last year
Laid seven eggs in a nest.
A thing unheard of before.

And I shall go and see
Doc Gudger over at Jump Off.
He will try again to Convince me that the World is flat
And I shall listen,
For afterwards he will tell
Me where to find the
First arbutus.

Old Lizzie Long, too,
Will be out in front
Of her cabin, occasionally
Going to tend to
The "corn" that
She makes on the kitchen stove.
She will know the greenest
Places hereabouts and all
The gossip of the hillside.

All Winter I have had
To sit by the fire.
But it is Spring on
Our Mountain now.

Off to Chapel

The chapel bell is ringing when you jump into your clothes
And dash a little water on your face,
And you're off across the campus in less time than you'd suppose,
For you'd hate to have 'em miss you in your place.

And it's not because your spirit craves communion divine
That you chuck your nap and hurry off so fast,
And it's not because your conscientious scruples are so fine,
Or your mind's of any ultra-psychic cast.

But the proctor's eyes are watchful and the proctor's eyes are keen,
And a dozen chapel skips is mighty few;
So if you wish to hold the gentle graces of the Dean,
When you hear the bell you'd better take your cue.

A Tribute to Sewanee

Midway between the hour which saw her birth
And that completed circle of a hundred years
Which hastening Time will add in future days,
Sewanee stands. Her form, unshaken and unterrified,
Strengthened by the enduring conflict with the years,
Grounds Faith and Hope in that Eternal Name
Which ageless as the ages, gave to men
Whose hearts and hopes and lives were centered here
The inspiration for their mighty deed.

The hour of benediction. On revered saints,
On hoary heads, on mankind's sweetest bloom,
With this last time of looking back
Upon the decades past, the blessing falls.
Peace, from the ivied hall and heavenward pointing spire.
Peace, from the crannied tower and cloistered cool retreat.
Peace, from each memory laden scene of old.
Peace, from thy mother to her worthy sons.

The day is done. On campus, hall and tower
The seal of night is set. Tomorrow's sun
Brings in the dawn of that new day for which
All those who are Sewanee's sons rejoice.
A day of hopes new-born, of plans new-cast;
A day of struggles new, of victories won;
A day of salutations, aspirations, hopes, joys, fears;
A day of seeking for the hand of fame
Which, beckoning through the years shall spur us on Sewanee's mission truly to achieve. So when
The circlet of a century shall crown her brow
She may rest worthy of her need of praise.

A towered city. On thy revered head,
Made hoary by the trials of the years,
Made holy by the faith of those who guided thee,
Let rest that peace, which from Sewanee's sons,
In one glad tumult of rejoicing praise
Is given thee on this natal day.

An Ode to Sewanee

Ring loud, ye chimes of Breslin Tower!
Proclaim the day, proclaim the hour
Of fair Sewanee's fame.
Soon fifty years shall leave their trace
On her enraptured, beaming face,
And fifty more shall take their place
To magnify her name.

Shine bright, oh sun, through Heaven's prism
To banish heresy and schism,
To bathe the world in light.
Thy work has only half begun-
Eternity awaits each one
'Pon whom you place the name of son
To battle for the right.

Ah! soft lies night upon thy breast
When thy sweet chimes sing birds to rest.
Thy heart is peaceful then;
White moonlight wraps her dreamy shroud
Around thy form; the misty cloud
Droops low to kiss the crowd
Of roses soon to bloom.

Thy Rose of Life shall always bloom,
Thy Threads of Faith on life's great loom
Be spun in warps of gold.
Far be that final, dismal day,
When thy bright clouds turn dark and gray
And ends fore'er thy mighty sway
O'er sons that love of old.

Thy sons are bold, thy sons are free-
Their every thought is love for thee,
For thee so soft, so great.
Soon autumn's hand shall brush their cheek,
Their well-taught lips shall cease to speak,
Yet sons shall follow them to seek
Bright Fame's eternal gate.

Though youth soon lose beauty's charm,
There ne'er shall fall a single harm
Upon thy noble head,
Our thoughts shall be for thy welfare,
Our hearts shall shield thee from each care,
Our love shall free from every snare
That lie where thy feet tread.

Convocatio

Fortunate mortal! the tide of Time has turned for you! But remember that here all is enchantment, - that you have fallen under the spell of the dead,- that the lights and the colours and the voices must fade away at last into emptiness and silence.

Sewanee is usually spoken of as unique, but it is more than that- it is strange and mysterious. Its location, its birth, its death, its resurrection, its existence, its laws, its life, its methods, even its beasts and feathered fowls; its streets, and lots, and gate-latches, and fences are strange and mysterious.

Twice planned and planted in faith and love, Sewanee has been strangely hampered, and mysteriously clogged, until one is almost tempted to believe that some malevolent creature, coming down from the remote past of the place, must have banned its birth and interdicted its resurrection.

But in spite of all, the dear old place lives on. Through chances and changes; through good report and evil report; through abuse, and brag, and blame, and blunders; in spite of friends and foes, it lives.

Baccalaureate Procession

FAR greater colleges in many lands Rise high. We prize them not our own above.
Founded by wealth and power
each one stands,
Save her we love.

GREAT wealth made their foundations: Silent men
Out of great hope drew us.
Stones built the towers
And walls and gates our rivals
boast again:
Men's lives built ours.

TREAD softly, brothers, for the paths you tread
By thought of men who lived for us were laid:
They turned from ease and fame,
ate scanty bread,
Died undismayed,

AND were forgot for us. Speak
perfect truth:
A man's life paid the price that makes our word
Accepted without question. Make our youth
No lying herd

GUARD the traditions. Great men not a few,
Soldiers and gentlemen, midst
blood and strife
Dreamed a great dream for us,
and hence these drew
Spirit and life.

KEEP the Sewanee spirit. Let it guide.
Like a great throbbing soul we feel it stir,
Made up of spirits of the men who died
And live for her.

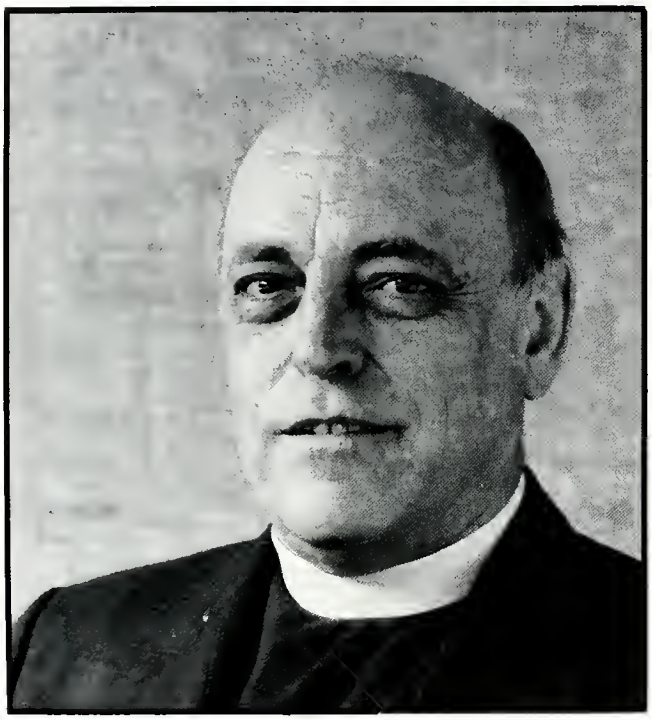
This Volume Of The Cap And Gown

Is Dedicated To The Memories Of Three Beloved Members Of The Sewanee Family



Rev. Robert S. Creamer
1938-1995

Finally, beloved, whatever is true, whatever is honorable, whatever is just, whatever is pure, whatever is pleasing, whatever is commendable, if there is any excellence and if there is anything worthy of praise, think about these things. Keep on doing the things that you have learned and received and heard and seen in me, and the God of peace will be with you.

— The Letter of Paul to the Philippians 4:8-9

Johanna S. Sudlow
1918-1995

"My eyes never forget the beauty of this place. The marvelous way that the light glitters through the trees to cast long bluish shadows, the clean air of the morning, the rose of the sunset. The buildings, made of hand-hewn stone that seems to push up through the ground, bring with them the very thing of which they are made stand surrounded by the magnificent, ever-embracing trees. When I paint the buildings, as huge as they seem, I see them as always, always dwarfed by the full, fat trees that embrace them in soft pastels in the Spring, rich greens in the Summer, brilliant orange in the Fall, and naked lavender in the Winter. What more could a person want?" — from Cap and Gown, 1993

Dr. Edwin Murdoch Stirling
1940-1994

WE WHO CARE DEEPLY about the arts find ourselves the priesthood of an almost forgotten faith, and we must, I think, if we would win the people again, take upon ourselves the method and the fervour of a priesthood. We must be half humble and half proud. We see the perfect more than others, it may be, but we must find the passions among the people. We must baptize as well as preach.

—W. B. Yeats

Once a Tree Hugger... Always a Tree Hugger!

Congratulations, Cathy.

Love and best wishes from all our family.

You said you didn't want to go to sea and you didn't. Instead, you climbed a mountain, read a little chemistry, and made us very proud of you.

Hawkeye, now that you're ready to commence the next leg of your journey, we wish you fair winds and flowing seas, and may your future be as exciting as your past.
Well done and Congratulations - Mom, Dad, and Kyle

Jennifer Wood

Jennifer, when you came into our lives 22 years ago, we never imagined how deeply you would touch
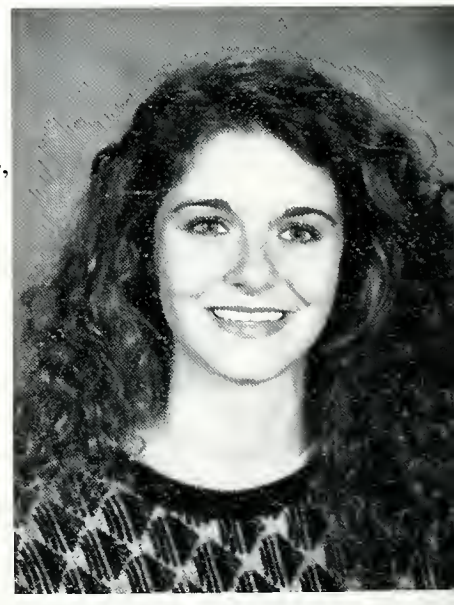
the simple pleasures within our hearts.
Reflecting on your journey through life,
we have been inspired by the poet John Keats
who wrote,

"A thing of beauty is a joy forever."



As we have witnessed your growth from an innocent baby into a lovely responsible young woman, we have come to realize that the blending of your spiritual, intellectual, emotional, and physical development has been a magnificent symphony of miracles that is a perfect testimony to an existence higher than ourselves. Your graduation from the University of the South marks a major milestone as you travel from a secure world at Sewanee into a future filled with unknowns and unlimited opportunities. With proud smiles and joyful tears, we hope that with God's help, you will continue to meet the challenges that each new day will bring.

Jennifer, we are so grateful for the very special privilege of being the parents to such a precious daughter.

WE LOVE YOU!!!
Mom and Dad

Congratulations, Heather!

God led you to Sewanee. May He continue to lead you through life.
Love, Mom and Dad

Whatever is true,
whatever is honorable,
whatever is just,
whatever is pure,
whatever is lively,
whatever is gracious,
if there is any excellence,
if there is anything worthy of praise,
think about these things.
What you have learned and received and heard and seen in me, do;
and the God of peace will be with you.

Jeff Ridner 1974

Dear Jeff,

Congratulations to you,
my son!
I know you are old enough
to take care of yourself now, but it's always nice to have someone to look out for you. Just whistle and I'll always be there.

I love you,
Mom

TODAY

With every rising of the sun
Think of your life as just begun.

The past has cancelled and buried deep
All yesterdays. There let them sleep.

Concern yourself with it Today.
Grasp it, and teach it to obey.
Your will and plan. Since time began
Today has been the friend of man.

You and Today! A soul sublime
And the great heritage of time

With God himself to bind the twain,
Go forth, brave heart! Attain! attain!
--Unknown

Congratulations on a job well done!!!

Love,
Mom, Jeff, and Dad

Jennifer

As you look to your future, you will carry us in your heart. May God be with you to lighten your load and keep you safe as you make your way.

"Happily this void has been filled with a bevy of courageous women, veritable magnolia buds with sepals of iron courage, to pulverize another metaphor. Gentle, feminine flutings charm the misty atmosphere. Benedict Hall with its artful grills and reassuring 'inner calm' system has been victimized by Destiny for housing purposes. Despite the sneers of chrome and tile lovers, quaint Hoffman Hall is generously filling the role of Sewanee's first co-ed dormitory. A beaverboard partition and cleverly foraged shower curtains have not discouraged amiable relations between genders in Hoffman. [These additions] may partially account for the rapid increase of nymphs in Manigault Park."

"By the time it came to the edge of the Forest, the stream had grown up, so that it was almost a river, and, being grown-up, it did not run and jump and sparkle along as it used to do when it was younger, but moved more slowly. For it knew now where it was going, and it said to itself, "There is no hurry. We shall get there some day." But all the little streams higher up in the Forest went this way and that, quickly, eagerly, having so much to find out before it was too late."
